What's New in Projectplace September 2016

The September 2016 release of Projectplace brings major enhancements to our Android app as well as some Security uplifts.

Security

Two Factor Authentication

Two factor authentication is now available for all users in Projectplace. Enabling your organization to require an extra layer security to the account by providing a one-time security code to users, sent as text message.

Android App

Editing the Plan

The ability to edit your plan has finally arrived inside of our Android app. You can now add, edit, and delete activities from your plan on the go while utilizing all of the other great features that you know and love.

Filter Cards on Boards

We have added filter options to the board view in the Android App. The filters will make it easier for you and your team to organize and focus in on the cards most relevant to the project.

Share

We have made it easier than ever to collaborate around the cards, activities and documents in the android app. We now support the ability to share, via a link, anything in your project – making it easier than ever to collaborate on the go.

We are making Projectplace even better!

Big changes and enhancements are on the horizon for Projectplace. Soon to arrive in the upcoming releases:

- Closer connection between activities and cards to provide even better ways to plan and work
- New, intuitive and modern look & feel making it easy to find your way around in the product
- Usability enhancements that increase team engagement and productivity

More information to follow via email and in Projectplace later. Stay tuned!
